A Review of Yesterdays . . .

at Fuquay Springs

I try to live
each day in such a way . . .

that when tomorrow
makes today a yesterday . . .

I will have woven into the fabric of my life . . .

some gay design, some patch of color, bright to please the eye . . .

So that in the graying years to come,
when all the quick responsive senses dull . . .

I may look back across the patterns of my life . . .

And in my memory live the joys and pains of all my yesterday

Foreword

MARY HELEN STEPHENS
Editor

In the GREENBRIAR is contained your memories for the school year 1958-59; your friends, your work, in short—your school. The memories of life at Fuquay High School will live as long as the student himself lives.

The Staff, therefore, is happy to present the 1959 Edition of GREENBRIAR in the hope that it will bring pleasure and happiness as it is read in years to come.

FUQUAY SPRINGS SCHOOLS

FUQUAY SPRINGS, N. C.

January 2, 1957

EDWARD N. FARNELL

Dear Students:

Someone has said that there are but two classes of people in the world: those who live to get - they are those who cause wars and poverty; and those who live to give - they are those who bring peace and prosperity.

The call to make human life in this world happier, more useful and brighter, is real and imperative. Christians look to the word of God as a source of help, some inkling of what should be done to meet present and future situations. "He who would be greatest among you let him be servant of all" spoke Christ as He taught His disciples the way of life.

Your generation has been born into a time when the frontiers of man seem unlimited. This has been brought on by the unlocking of secrets of the atom and man's first venture into space. Surely science will offer your generation more of the evidences of God and His wonders than has been known by any generation in the past 2000 years. To conquer these frontiers, I believe you will need a firm faith in God and His Word and a life built on a foundation of Christian Service.

I challenge you to go forth into a complex and difficult world and love it for all of the challenges and opportunities it offers. Strive to do for men rather than covet their possessions. Remember, that a truly successful life is not made by taking for yourself that which others have a right to share, but by rendering to others that which is worth more to them than they give in return. Live in such a way that you can say with James Russell Lowell:

"God bends forth from the great deep and says,
"I gave thee the great gift of life;
wast thou not called in many ways?
Are not my earth and Heaven at strife?
I gave thee of my seed to sow,
Brought thou me a hundred fold?
Can I look up with my face aglow
And answer, My Father, here is Gold."

Sincerely yours,

Class History

SUSAN JUDD, Historian

Dear Diary,

How long it has been since we've written in you. We have been very lazy to let four years elapse. So, now we must catch up, and tell you all that has happened.

Do you remember when we first entered high school, how scared we were? It was a very lost feeling to be on the bottom, having to look up to everyone. Will we ever forget being told to ALWAYS walk on the right side of the hall? How many little, everyday things there were to learn.

Finally we became accustomed to almost everything. Then we realized that high school was going to be an exciting and challenging experience.

That year, after a vigorous campaign, we elected Bob Fleming, president; Winnie Coley, vice-president; Susan Judd, secretary; and Mary Helen Stephens, treasurer.

There were so many organizations which we were able to join. Almost everyone became a member of the Future Farmers, Future Homemakers, or Future Teachers of America.

There were so many organizations which we were able to join. Glenn Horton, Mickey Jones, Devon McLean, and Newton Prince were our football players. Mickey Jones and Henry Bunn represented us on the baseball field.

The freshman year was pleasant. But, you know, Diary, I think we were all glad to be sophomores; so we could know everyone, and look down on at least a few.

This year was much busier. We participated in almost all of the school organizations.

Our class officers were Jo Painter, president; Winnie Coley, vice-president; Martha Atkins, secretary; and Mary Helen Stephens, treasurer.

Judy Holloway and Diana Dale were the two representatives of the sophomore class in the Student Council.

We didn't lack players in any sport either. Three sophomore girls—Jayne Stephenson, Jo Ann Walker, and Priscilla Wilson—went out for basketball and have remained on the team for three years.

The Junior-Senior Prom was served by twenty of the sophomore boys and girls who will never forget being French maids, chefs, and artists.

But time passed and we moved into our junior year. Perhaps this was the best year; at least, it was the fullest—so many, many things to do.

First there was the Junior-Senior Prom. We decorated and decorated, making palm trees, orchids, and stars until we began making them in our sleep. But when we walked in that night, and the soft light was reflected by hundreds of glittering stars onto the scene of an almost real Hawaii, not one of us was sorry for the effort.

Our class officers this year were Winnie Coley, president; Jim Baker, vice-president; Jo Ann Walker, secretary; and Martha Atkins, treasurer. This year the officers had a tremendous job taking care of all the money that we other juniors made by selling candy, putting on play and a chicken supper.

Many of the juniors helped behind the scenes of the Junior Play. The ones we saw, however, were the actors and actresses: Jackie Holland, Kitty Lane Johnson, Larry Johnson, Jayne Stephenson, Jo Ann Walker, Maurice Weaver, and Priscilla Wilson.

Four girls from the Junior class were chosen as cheerleaders: Martha Barbee, Carol Broadwell, Jackie Blanchard, and Betty Sue Young. They did an excellent job in hoisting the morale of the players and the spectators.

This year the football players were Bobby Clayton, Chet Hair, Mickey Jones, Bruce Lyles, Newton Prince, and Henry Shaw. Hugh Buchanan, Henry Bunn, Jerry Talley, and Dickie Fish were the basketball players.

Nine marshals were chosen to help with the Class Night, Baccalaureate Sermon, and Graduation exercises. They were Jim Baker, Jim Buffaloe, Bob Fleming, David Woodlief, Carol Broadwell, Winnie Coley, Judy Holloway, Kitty Lane Johnson, and Susan Judd.

The thing which we will longest remember, however, was taking American History on television. We actually didn't know what to expect, and we were quite unprepared. Can we ever forget the sore fingers acquired in taking mountains of notes; or the shock of the first . . . last, and every quiz which Miss Edinger, our television teacher, sent to us.

We finally made it; we are SENIORS. It was an exciting feeling at first—being on top and looking down, getting class rings, and college entrance papers. It still is exciting, this feeling, but, now we are beginning to see the multitude of things that we must leave behind, and be sorry that we have not made better use of those many opportunities. That is past though, and we must look toward the future.

This is a busy year, especially for our officers—Bob Fleming, president; Betty Sue Young, vice-president; Sue Hilliard, secretary; and Judy Holloway, treasurer. They are always leading class meetings, collecting money, or something else to take care of our many demands.

The Student Council representatives from the senior class—Diana Dale, president; Jim Baker, secretary; and Kitty Lane Johnson, parliamentarian, have done well a tremendous job. This organization has grown into an essential part of our student government.

The Future Farmers of America have chosen from this class their president, Chet Hair; Mickey Jones, secretary; and sentinel, Dickie Fish.

Sports play, as usual, an important part in every high school week. The Monogram Club officers are Newton Prince, president; Jo Ann Walker, vice-president; Priscilla Wilson, secretary and treasurer; and Jayne Stephenson, reporter.

The homecoming queen and two of her attendants were from the Senior class. They were Jo Painter, queen; and Martha Atkins and Priscilla Wilson, attendants.

The annual is a most important feature of everyone's high school days. Mary Helen Stephens and her staff have done an excellent job in order to present the school with an annual which will be long remembered.

We've told you so many things, Dear Diary. Some of them are sad, some exciting, and some just ordinary events, but all experiences that the Senior class has had over four long, yet much too short and truly happy years.

Our diary comes to a close at the end of this year; but a diary is to be opened, to be reread, and to present treasured memories. So in you we always have access to these wonderful years.

*I have enjoyed school with you.
Good luck.

Class Poem

WINNIE COLEY
Class Poetess

*"What Has Been?
What Will Be?"*

Look back, into the past, See?
In your heart you remember.
Memories are lingering there,
Lingering as the days dwindle.
From the green freshmen days
To the dignity held as seniors,
These were the never-to-be-forgotten days,
Days of happiness filled with gay times and knowledge gained.
Things to be locked away in secret,
To be pondered when alone.

Look forward to the future,
What unknown lies ahead for us?
Is there to be grief, laughter, sickness, or sorrow?
Our paths shall depart from one another,
What fields will be chosen?
We know not the answers to all of these.

We think but do not say,
For fear of coming tears,
Of the class of '59
With its joys and sorrows binding.
One glorious day, we shall know
The consequence of striving forward,
Into the unknown depths of life.

Class Prophecy

JUDY HOLLOWAY, Prophetess

It's September, 1969, in Fuquay Springs. The crowd is gathering in the Fleming Field Stadium to view the Homecoming Game between Cary and Fuquay. As I enter the gate, I am greeted by Carol Broadwell, Head of the Science Department at the school, and Sue Hilliard, Head of the Home Economics Department.

Before going to my seat, I see Hugh Buchanan, the principal, Jimmy McCotter, his assistant, and Bob Fleming, County Superintendent, chatting to Coach Henry Bunn, his assistant, Jim Baker, and the Cary coach Mickey Jones and his assistant, Henry Shaw, talking over pre-game activities. I see referees Connie Stephenson and O'Neal Stephenson getting ready for the kick-off.

As I near my seat, I hear the booming drums of the Fuquay Band under the direction of Kitty Lane Johnson, coming on the field to play the National Anthem led by assistant director, A. G. Hare. As I start to take my seat I observe that new bleachers have been constructed by contractors Bruce Lyles and Louis Barbour. As I look at my program, I see that Jerry Talley is now the owner of the Talley Printing Company with Patsy Stephenson and Jerry Myatt as secretaries, Wade Vuncannon and Robert Conner as linotype operators, and Violet Cook and Judy Canady as copy readers. I also note that artists Larry Johnson and Jackie Blanchard are featured in the art work. As I thumb through the program, I see that welders Tony Currin and Rudy Morrison, Pharmacist Jackie Holland, and Hudson-Belk Manager, Marie McLaurin, are running ads in the program.

A few minutes later a cheerful voice from behind calls me. I turn around and see that housewives Louise Wilkes, Emma Yates, Barbara Upchurch, and Barbara Morrison are talking to air hostess Rose Moore who is home for the week-end. She tells me that Navy Admiral Edward Keith is returning to Fuquay for a short visit. Rose also said that Private Glenn Horton, Corporal Bobby Wortham, and Army Captain Bobby Clayton were on her last flight. Rose also informed us that Doug Johnson was her pilot. Louise told me that last week was American Education Week and she visited the school. There she saw Jayne Stephenson, Physical Education teacher, Helen Stephens, Primary teacher, and Jo Ann Walker, basketball coach. In the office was Winnie Coley, private secretary of the principal, Martha Barbee, school bookkeeper, and Maurice Weaver, Certified Public Accountant auditing the school books. While Louise was in the office she saw truck driver Horace Bowling bring in some school supplies.

Soon I realize that half-time is near. During the half-time electrician Chet Hair cuts off the lights for the half-time activities. Master of Ceremonies, Donald Gray, and his secretary Monteen Fish, announce the half-time activities while Everett Hackney and Claude Dupree work at the controls. On my way to the concession stand, I meet Dr. Susan Judd and her nurses, Priscilla Wilson and Betty Jane Carden, who now operate an office in Fuquay. They are talking to Gentleman Farmer Jimmy Buffalo, Engineer David Woodlief, President of the local Lions Club, Congressman Glenn Pugh, and Grocer Joe Coley.

Upon returning to my seat my old friend Betty Sue Young, society editor of the N & O, and Buster Pearce, sports editor, invite me to return to Raleigh with them for a "nightcap" at the "Chez Painter" a night club owned by Jo Painter.

To avoid the heavy football traffic we leave at the end of the third quarter.

On our way to Raleigh, Highway Patrolmen Dickie Fish and Jackie Rhodes stop us for a routine check. Dickie tells us that the "Grill" operator Haywood Sherron has just gone by on his way to get more after-game foods from wholesaler Charles Baker in Willow Springs.

When we enter the "Chez Painter" we are greeted by Jo, the owner and Frances Lyles, the head cashier. I notice that Ruby McLeod and Marjorie Davis are hostesses for the evening. Jo soon joins us saying that her assistants, Elizabeth Yarborough and Kitty Chestnutt are going to run the club for the evening.

As I sit at my table, Martha Atkins, a Powers model, comes over for a chat. She says that she has just returned from the beauty salon owned by Patsy Beckwith and Nancy Jones. Celia told Martha that Joyce Vaughan and Peggy Champion were operating a beauty salon in New York City. Celia also said that Religious Education Director Virginia Pearce was at the Grace Church in Washington, D. C. where Reverend Bobby Crabtree was pastor.

As I listen to the beautiful music of concert pianist Diana Dale, I see the murals on the walls were painted by Newton Prince, Jr. and Peggy Beckwith.

Soon I realize that I should be going home so that I might be able to go to work in the morning. Before we leave, I am pleased at the splendid performance of Maggie, a maid in a noted Broadway play, given by Rebecca Revels, a member of the Broadway cast.

When I go to work as Secretary of the Automobile Association in the morning, I shall tell Chief Engineer Devon McLean of my experience.

I shall never forget this Homecoming Game because it seems just like a dream in which I saw all of my Senior classmates of 1959.

Council

The Student Council is the student-representative organization which closely resembles a form of student government.

It consists of a sponsor, two seniors, two juniors, two sophomores, one freshman, one eighth grade student, one seventh grade student, and one representative from each of the following clubs: Future Farmers of America, Future Homemakers of America, Future Teachers of America, Monogram Club, and the Beta Club.

These members have many responsibilities, which consist of the planning, carrying out and supervision of certain school functions.

The Student Council has its own constitution, and while it is not under the direct supervision of the principal, he may veto any action planned. The Council takes an active part in the state-wide program of Student Councils, and this year sent delegates to the State Student Council Congress which was held at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Each year the Student Council sponsors the elections, Orientation Day, Twirp Season, a magazine sale and chapel programs. The appointment of monitors is a part of the work of the Council, and its officers are members of the Administrative Committee.

The Student Council tries to promote (1) Better relationships among students, faculty, and parents; (2) A healthy student-attitude; (3) Higher school spirit; (4) Higher scholastic ratings.

The Student Council is an organization for service and through it, the entire student body may gain a greater understanding of citizenship, leadership, and those essential items which will enable each one to live a more successful, well-informed life.

Beta Club

"Let us lead by serving others," this is the motto of the National Beta Club, and the purpose in the heart of every Beta member.

The Beta Club is a leadership-service organization. The first local chapters were established in Spartanburg County, South Carolina in 1936. Later, on August 31, 1936, the articles of the National Constitution were drawn up and adopted under South Carolina's state laws. State Beta Club Conventions have been held every year since, without interruption except for the war.

The Constitution of the National Beta Club does not limit Beta membership, other than the fact that a member must possess outstanding leadership, character, and achievement. The specific qualifications for membership are left to the individual chapters. Our local Beta Club Constitution requires that a person have, and maintain, a 3.3 quality point average. And that if he should fall below this during a semester, he would have two six-week grading periods to bring his average back to the required.

We are proud of being selected to become Beta members, but we would not let that sense of pride eclipse what we know to be the real purpose of our organization, and therefore of each member . . . "Let us lead by serving others."

Future Teachers of America

PAT WALLS
President

The Future Teachers of America was established in 1937 as an organization to help students explore teaching as a career. This is done by planning a program of service through which the members may measure their own abilities and interests in relation to the responsibilities and in teaching. There are activities in which the F.T.A. may participate. These are only a few: substitute for teachers; act as supervisor of small children; help direct a school project; or make plans for American Education Week.

Today the opportunities in teaching are tremendous. Only top quality persons are wanted, however, the F.T.A. will guide these prospective individuals into the teaching profession. It will help them develop their own talents and assist them in finding their fields of interest.

Any student in the Junior or Senior class who meets the required standards may become a member of our local chapter.

Fuquay Springs Music Department

The musical organizations of the school have, as in the past, participated in all student and community activities both here and in surrounding areas. The school and community is justly proud of the recognition and reputation these groups have won for themselves here and throughout a large section of the state. The Faleon Band, well known for its appearance and neatness, is also known for the fine showings musically in the district clinics and district contests. Members of this band have gone on to further their musical experience with college bands of their choice.

Replacements are taken from the Junior Band which is comprised of students in grades six through eight and are admitted to the Faleon Band as their progress warrants.

The High School Chorus, noted for their fine blend of voices and varied programs, have performed on many occasions for various civic groups. Although the Chorus does not have another group from which to draw replacements, it is able to maintain its musical quality through hard work and determination.

Foreword to Athletics

PRISCILLA WILSON
Sports Editor

Catching that long pass, sinking that ball into the basket or hitting a home-run . . . each of these events meant much to those of us who fought to win. These activities held a world of meaning to those of us who watched breathlessly on a cold October night, or rooted for the team in the familiar gym, or shook the players hand as he crossed home plate. All of this we did for the Falcons of Fuquay Springs High.

Fuquay High is very proud of its coaches, players, and other people concerned with its Athletic Program. They stick together whether they win or lose. When they win, it gives them the incentive to win more and when they lose it makes them play harder so that they will win the next one.

With a certain amount of luck, much skill and team work, the outcome will be well worth our hard work.

“Bow your necks, men!”

Last Will

State of North Carolina
County of Wake, Fuquay Springs High School

We, the Senior Class of 1959, of the afore-said state, county, and school, being of sound mind and good character, realizing that the time is drawing near when we must depart from the realm of this great institution, do hereby declare and make this our last will and testament. The following persons we do declare to be the lawful and rightful heirs, to have and to hold these properties which we have to dispose of.

ARTICLE I

Sec. 1—For all the aid, guidance and understanding shown us, we give our deepest appreciation to Mr. Farnell.

ARTICLE II

Sec. 1—To the Junior Class we give the grand privilege of being Seniors, with all the run and hard work which goes with it.

Sec. 2—To the Sophomores we leave the patience to endure all the problems and activities before them.

Sec. 3—To the Freshmen we bequeath our ability to obtain higher goals—both morally and educationally.

ARTICLE III

Sec. 1—To all the high school teachers, we will and bequeath the esteem, good will and deepest heartfelt thanks of all the class for the encouragement, friendship, understanding, aid and guidance they have shown us in the past.

ARTICLE IV

Kitty Lane Johnson wills her ability to drive a La Salle to anyone who is capable of it.

Carol Broadwell wills her bad grades on French to anyone who will have them. They sure didn't help her.

Henry Bunn wills his baseball uniform to L. D. Jackson.

Jackie Holland wills his ability to learn Latin to Sara Capps.

Ed Keith leaves his ability to do his math lessons in Physics and not get caught to Richard Breedlove.

Jackie Blanchard wills her height to Jennie Blanchard, who needs it.

Buster Pearce wills his long, curly hair to Lewis Love.

Judy Holloway wills her ability to talk, to anyone who can beat her record.

Jimmy Buffaloe wills his ability to work math to Lynwood Daniels.

Patsy Beckwith wills her height to Alice Walters. Betty Jane Carden wills her talkativeness to Mary Ann Watkins.

Joyce Vaughan wills her bashfulness to Sandra Fish.

Bob Fleming wills his athletic ability to Johnnie Poe.

Jim Baker wills his Beta Club pin to one of the many girls who wear it.

DeVon McLean wills nothing because he needs everything he's got where he's going.

Bruce Lyles wills his position on the football team to any big boy who wants it.

Hugh Buchannan wills his locker to anyone who can pay the locker rent.

Judy Cannady wills her ability to "Hoola-Hoop" to Jo Ellen McLean.

Martha Atkins wills her ability to attract boys to Annette Jones.

Mickey Jones is sorry he can't will anything to anybody, but he needs all he's got.

Jo Ann Walker wills her ability to "go steady" to Daisy Spivey and Bruce Currin.

O'Neal Stephenson wills his ability to skip school and not get caught to Mary Ann Holleman.

Maurice Weaver wills his after school taxi service to any sucker who will take it.

Rose Moore wills her flirty ways to Tilley Adams.

Douglas Johnson wills his ability to get to school on time to Jo Ann Payne.

Chet Hair wills his ability to work Plane Geometry to Skipper Phelps.

Connie Stephenson wills his ability to write his excuses to go uptown without getting caught to Jerry Upchurch.

Ruby McLeod wills her seat in the Shorthand class to Betty Louise Upchurch.

Patsy Stephenson wills her brown eyes to anyone who can use them like she did.

Jerry Myatt wills her long curly hair to Lueinda Williams.

Nancy Jones leaves her ability to flirt with the boys to Pat Adams.

Becky Revels wills her ability to get along with the teachers to Linda Beckwith.

Jimmy McCotter wills his ability to learn Algebra to Colon Hobby.

and Testament

Best wishes your Senior Year.
I hope you pass with flying colors.
Larry Johnson

Dickie Fish leaves his knack for getting caught for speeding to Delores Tutor.

Priscilla Wilson wills her ability to blush when Coach Jones speaks to her to anyone who can put up with it.

Rudy Morrison wills his ability to sleep during class to Jimmy Stephenson.

Donald Gray wills his height to Tommie Cloer. Bobby Wortham wills his curly hair and ability to get along with teachers to Eugene Truelove.

Diana Dale leaves her red hair to George Francis. A. G. Hare wills nothing since he has used all of his capabilities trying to graduate.

Horace Bowling wills his ability to be quiet in class to Richard Dye.

Larry Johnson wills his long blonde hair to Lynwood Daniels.

Elizabeth Yarborough wills her pleasant smile to Martha Hunt.

Bobby Crabtree wills his job of being a bus driver to anyone who'll take it.

Louis Barbour wills to everyone who'll have to study it, his love for economics.

Glenn Pugh wills his sideburns to Jimmy Parker and Al Johnson.

Joe Coley wills his charming way with girls to Charlie Carden.

Jayne Grace Stephenson wills her handkerchief to anyone who can give it the aroma.

Margie Davis wills her pretty hair to anyone who'll pin it up every night.

Louise Wilkes wills her determination to finish school to Thomas Stephenson.

Charles Baker wills his gentle and quiet manner to William Wrenn.

Martha Kay Barbee wills her schoolgirl figure to Patricia Pruitt.

Nancy Jo Baker wills her loud mouth to all the quiet Juniors.

Peggy Beckwith wills five inches of her height to Phillip Utley.

Peggy Champion leaves her shyness and quiet ways to Donnie Mangum.

Kitty Lou Chestnutt wills her good shorthand grades to whoever will have them.

Bobby Clayton wills his wit and originality to Phil Jones.

Violet Cook wills her studious manner to all the Freshmen.

Robert Conner wills his knowledge of English to Ralph Smith.

Tony Currin wills his long legs to Robert Dale. Claud Dupree leaves his Romeo Characteristics to Bryant Tyndall.

Monteen Fish leaves her ability to make noise to next year's cheerleaders.

Everett Hackney wills his ability to get along with teachers to all students.

Sue Hilliard wills her ability to drive carefully to Larry Stephenson.

Glenn Horton is not willing anything because he just will get out.

Susan Judd wills her ability to get along well with everybody to all the students.

Frances Lyles leaves her flirty ways to all the girls.

Marie McLaurin wills her charming smile to Melinda Powell.

Newton Prince leaves his football uniform to anyone who is capable of being switched around.

Jackie Rhodes wills his ability to drive a bus to anyone who'll try it.

Henry Shaw leaves his job of entertaining 2nd period economics to anyone who'll risk it.

Haywood Sherron wills his love of the H & H Grill to Howard Dickens.

Mary Helen Stephens wills her love of pajama parties to anyone who can stay awake until 7 o'clock.

Jo Painter wills her brainpower to her brother, Tony Painter.

Barbara Upchurch wills her sweet personality to Judy Smith.

Wade Vuncannon wills his love of Pontiacs to Calvin Vuncannon.

David Woodlief wills his flirtatious ways to Jerry Pore.

Emma Yates leaves her ability to be engaged and finish school to all engaged girls.

Betty Sue Young leaves her talent for digging up news to Judy Currin.

Celia Rowland wills her silly giggles to Brenda Williams.

Jerry Talley wills his ability to get along with Coach Jones to Watt Rose.

Linda Wood leaves her locker to any Junior who'll be able to open it.

Signed, sealed, and declared by the said members of the Senior Class as their last will and testament.

Jo Anna Painter, Testatrix
